

Soc 370: Instructions for Final Presentation

You are REQUIRED to send me a copy of your final presentation at least 4 days before you actually present. (This may be a PPT, a Prezi, or a detailed outline.) If you do not do this, you will not present and you will automatically receive a 0 for your presentation grade.

In your final presentation you should review the core findings from your final essay. You will have 12 minutes to accomplish this. In this time you should provide:

- A brief introduction
 - Convince your audience that they should pay attention to the rest of your presentation! Be provocative!
 - Provide a brief outline of your presentation here.
- A brief review of your country's history
 - Focus on major events that are related to poverty and inequality
 - Use text and images to guide discussion but don't overdo it!
- An outline of your country's poverty and inequality levels relative to other countries in the region/world
 - Images/graphs would be very useful here
- A review of poverty-reducing programs in your country
 - Actual results would be useful here
 - Present advances/setbacks
- A brief set of conclusions
 - Summarize major points
 - End on a memorable line!

Other things to keep in mind:

- Show up early, upload your presentation onto the computer and make sure it is working as intended.
- Practice makes perfect! Practice your presentation frequently in the days leading up to your presentation. Run through it one or twice out loud but also review it in your head from time to time.
- Time your presentation and cut out unnecessary information.
